DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

18105 2. Claims 1-5, 7-24, and 34-36<sup>1</sup> rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Zhang et al. (US2004/0029396).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Zhang et al. teach process solutions comprising one or more of the claimed surfactants to reduce the number of defects in the manufacture of semiconductor devices. In paragraph 37, Zhang teaches that the process solution can be used in a variety of processes related to the manufacture of semiconductor devices such as post-CMP. In reference to a low dielectric constant film, paragraph 55 teaches substrates having silicon dioxide materials. In reference to claims 2-5, refer to paragraph 53. In reference to claim 7, refer to paragraph 49. In reference to claim 8, refer to paragraph 62. In reference to claim 9, refer to paragraph 38. In reference to claim 10, refer to paragraph 72. In reference to claims 11 and 34-37, refer to col. 6 and paragraph 62.. In reference to claims 12-14, refer to paragraph 62. In reference to claims 15-16, refer to paragraph 59. In reference to claims 17-19, refer to paragraphs 52 and 59. In reference to claims 20-24, refer to paragraphs 60-61.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Zhang et al. (US2004/0029396).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) might be overcome by: (1) a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not an invention "by another"; (2) a showing of a date of invention for the claimed subject matter of the application which corresponds to subject matter disclosed but not claimed in the reference, prior to the effective U.S. filing date of the reference under 37 CFR 1.131; or (3) an oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.130 stating that the application and reference are currently owned by the same party and that the inventor named in the application is the prior inventor under 35 U.S.C. 104, together with a terminal disclaimer in accordance with 37 CFR 1.321(c). This rejection might also be overcome by showing that the reference is disqualified under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) as prior art in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a). See MPEP § 706.02(l)(1) and § 706.02(l)(2).

Zhang et al. teach the invention substantially as claimed with the exception of corrosion inhibitors. However, in paragraph 49, Zhang et al. teach that various other additives may be optionally added to the process solution. Kakizawa et al. teach cleaning of semiconductor substrates using a nonionic surfactant. In col. 12, Kakizawa teaches the use of corrosion inhibitors to protect the metal surface. It would have been within the level of the skilled artisan to have modified the method of Zhang et al. to include corrosion inhibitors, as taught by Kakizawa et al., for purposes of protecting the metal surface. Additionally, it would have been within the level of the skilled artisan to have modified the method of Zhang et al. to include corrosion inhibitors since Zhang et al. teach that various other additives may be added to the process solution and since it is notoriously well known to include corrosion inhibitors for treatment of semiconductor substrates.

Response to Arguments

5. The rejections of the claims under 112, first and second paragraph are withdrawn in view of corrections made by applicant.
6. The rejections of the claims as being anticipated and obvious by Kakizawa et al. are withdrawn in view of the newly amended claims.
7. The rejection of the claims, as being anticipated by Zhang et al. "396 is withdrawn and replaced by another Zhang reference, as cited above, with an earlier filing date. The examiner has not agreed with applicant's arguments concerning the Zhang reference, but considers the above Zhang reference of '396 more appropriate because of an earlier filing date and in view of the newly amended claims recited.

Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in the reply filed on 2/28/2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that search and examination can be made without serious burden. This is not found persuasive because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

This application contains claims 25-33 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in Paper No. 02/28/2005. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.
